TRIPOLI ABANDONED BY ROMMEL

BRITISH TAKE CITY AS VICTORY NEARING

Tripoli, last of the important Italian cities in the empire Mussolini hoped to set up as he immitated the Caesar was in British hands at noon.

It was but a matter of hours untii the flag of a democratic power would fly over the Mediterranean stronghold and Fascism will die in North Africa.

Part of the city is in ruins, burning from bombardment. All Fascist city officials have left, leaving behind only a small number to treat with the British.

General Rommel was reported to have gone aboard a ship at Tripoli. Another report said he was making his way rapidly to the little Maginot line between Tunisia and Tripolitania and there to make a last ditch stand or perhaps to attempt an escape at sea.

It was not thought likely that Rommel would try to exacuate his troops. Such an undertaking would be extremely hazardous with the British navy in control of the sea.

It was predicted that the finai chapter in the North African war would be written within the next few hours and the Empire of Mussolini would be no more.

REDS IN 50 MILES OF ROSTOV IN BIG DRIVE

Hitler said in 1941:
"The Russian army has been annihilated as an effective striking force."

German newspapers Wednesday conceded that the Reich had met disaster at Satlingrad and that the Russians are superior in manpower and equipment.

The German people have been warned that a general break through may soon occur.

The Russians at noon today were in 50 miles of Rostov and at the same time were sweeping in on Kharkov.

The Red army was said to be in position to take five more important points on the offensive line between Moscow and Rostov.

When the siege of Leningrad was lifted the entire left wing of the German army was imperiled. Developments of major consequence were looked for as the Red advance continued.

The German army is crumbling. Once the strongest force in the world, it was today second to the Russian army which by admission of Berlin has twice the manpower of Germany and its equipment fast surpassing that of the Germans.

There were hints of grave and momentous decisions.

With the fall of Leningrad Norway and Sweeden would both be laid open to invasion and Germany might lose her hold upon the rich iron ores of Sweeden.

Ray Tucker, wounded in Ireland during the September riots over the presence of American soldiers, is coming home.

Miss Verlie Tucker, sister of the wounded veteran, received a letter from her brother Tuesday. He said he would soon be in the states. The letter was mailed from Brooklyn and came over in possession of a friend.

Tucker went over to Ireland with the 304th Tank Destroyer Battalion commanded by Colonel Purdy. This Battalion was the first to spend the week end in Cameron.

It has never been satisfactorily explained how Tucker came by his wound. He was shot in the stomach and was in a critical condition for about 2 months. He was wounded on September 20, 1942.

Tucker is 22 years of age and from a family of 8 brothers, two of whom, Howard and Preston, are still in the service.

Miss Verlie Tucker said the family is looking forward to the return of her brother and anxious to know more about his experiences in Ireland with the American Expeditionary forces.

Soldiers of the United States army have relieved tired Marine units who have borne the brunt of the battle for many weeks.

In Washington Under Secretary of War, Patterson, said the end of fighting in Tripoli is a matter of hours.

SUNDAY BAN ON BEER SALES ASKED THURSDAY

Sunday closing hours and ban on the sale of beer in Cameron was asked by a delegation of citizens led by ministers from several churches, appearing before an open meeting of the City Council Thursday night.

Other demands were said also to be in consideration but for the time the anti-beer meeting was held. Ministers spoke briefly. At the beginning of the meeting time was alloted so that all could speak. A representative of the negro section also spoke.

The Ministers Association of which Rev. Bob Pool, pastor of the Methodist Church, is President, is sponsoring the request for Sunday closing. The request is that no beer be sold in Cameron from midnight Saturday to 7 a. m. on Monday. The pastors pointed to drinking on Sunday, engaged in by visiting soldiers and civilians as well.

A petition with about 150 names was presented by representatives of the cafes and bars asking that they be not closed during the hourse specified in the Minister's Association demand.

The council received both requests and took no official action at the time. It was expected that the matter will be under consideration at the next meeting.

23 AXIS PLANES IN TUNISIA SHOT DOWN

The Russian army has captured 30 more towns in the Caucasus and middle Don River sectors on the eastern front and the big drive continues.

Berlin was reported from authoritative sources to be genuinely worried over the defeats in the east. To add to the difficultlies Hitler is facing the RAF was stepping up the fury of blasting German industries.

In the successes of the Red army in the past 24 hours ten thousand head of cattle were taken from the Germans, said a Moscow report.

In Tunisia 23 more Axis planes were shot down. This makes a total of 84 enemy fighters and bombers bagged by the Americans in the past 48 hours, indicating that a major development is imminent in North Africa.

Berlin broadcast that the attack would occur in Thursday.

Saturday Berlin said that a flurry of activity had been reported from Libbya and that the British lost 44 tanks in an attempt to surround Rommel.

In Washington the government was tiring of the political mess in North Africa and one source said the United States will soon get tough.

Irak has declared war on Germany, Italy and Japan.

Richard Hester of the Community Public Service Company said pipes in all sections of the city were being reported broken and in some cases bath and kitchen fixtures are ruined.

Plumbers were having a critical time of it. Garage men were put to great effort Tuesday to take care of calls for anti-freeze. Storage was in great demand as cars were run into garages for safe keeping against the weather.

Mr. Hester said the official low reading here was 16 degrees Tuesday night.

COUNCIL DECLINES TO PASS BEER ORDINANCE

Cameron Ministers Write Open Letter To Gov. Stevenson

An Open Letter to Hon. Coke Stevenson, Governor of Texas:
Greeting:

While we are under the impression that your position has never been neither out-and-out dry nor out-and-out wet but that you stand for laws of control and regulation of the sale and consumption of beer and other alcoholic beverages, yet we wish to commend you on your public pronouncement asking the State law making body to pass stricter reguiations as to the hours of sale and consumption of beer and other alcoholic beverages.

The Churches as a whole or the greater majority have always stood for complete prohibition; however, under the circumstances of the moment and the pressing need to curtail the evils of and related to strong drink we join with you in promoting and seeking a state-wide law calling for as strict as possible regulations, as to the sale and consumption of all alcoholic beverages from 9 p. m. to 7 a. m. every night and from 9 p. m. Saturday to 7 a. m. Monday.

The Cameron Churches joined by many representative citizens are now pleading with our City Council to pass at once and put into immediate effect an ordinance calling for substancially the same things pointed out in your public pronouncement. We feel that this should be done now so as to give you and the legislature another specific example and added moral support in reaching your announced objective.

Respectfully and cordially,
Bob L. Pool,
President.
C. W. Sanders,
Vice President.
John C. Solomon,
Acting Secretary.

Mrs. John Jedlica Gets 5 Star Emblem For 5 Sons in Service

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Jedlica of Ad Hall, were honored guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Raska at their new suburban ranch home adjoining Cameron, Thursday evening, January 14th at 8 o'clock when Mrs. Jedlica was presented with a beautiful Five-Star emblem of honor pin coming from the "Emblem of Honor Association of New York City," who honors American mothers with having sons in defense, with the number of stars as sons in defense. Frank A. Marek, prominent furniture dealer here, presented the pin in well chosen words, and was responded to by the receiver in a most feeling manner. The pin was secured by Miss Delphya Scott of Cameron, making the second mother to receive an Honor Pin from this assocation in the county of Milam.

The honored guests have seven sons, one in Mexico, and one is living near here, farming. Mr. Jedlica, father of the five sons in defense, is farming on his own farm raising the needed farm products to help with the war.

Later in the evening a letter was read coming from their son who is in North Africa, in service, which was mailed to them on December 11th and received on December 26th. He spoke encouragingly of the end of the war, telling of a beautiful country he was in, and stating that he expected to be back in old U. S. A. in the future, and for his friends to remember him.

Salvage Information Week Is Proclaimed

January 22 to 29 has been designated household salvage information week.

The women members of the salvage committee are co-operating with the office of Civilian defense by a block to block information campaign.

By a vote of 4 to 1 the City Council Thursday night declined to pass an ordinance which Rev. Bob Pool had prepared and presented, asking stoppage of beer sales here between the hours of midnight Saturday and 7 a. m. Monday.

The motion by which the council declined to pass the ordinance provided that the matter merely be taken under advisement. It was not known whether any further action were contemplated.

On a previous request the council declined by a vote of 4 to 1 to pass such a regulation. Alderman Roy Griffith cast the minority vote while Aldermen Horstmann, Schiller, Terry and McDermott voted against the proposal.

It was learned Saturday that an effort had been made to stop dances at the USO hall. It was also understood the Committee had taken this under advisement and were inclined to continue recreational activities as heretofore.

Each week end some 150 to 200 men in service visit Cameron from Camp Hood.

CAMERON BANKS NAME OFFICERS FOR YEAR

H. M. Hefley was re-elected President of the First National Bank.

Oxsheer Smith was elected President of the Citizens National Bank.

Two members of the bank group here are in the armed services. They are Alvin Nolte of the Citizens Bank now somewhere in the Pacific; and Rudolph Marak, former Assistant Cashier of the First National Bank, now with the army and stationed in Oregon.

Other officers at the First National Bank were elected as follows: Mrs. S. W. Cheeves, Vice President; R. H. McIntosh, Chairman of the Board; George Waller, Cashier and A. K. Gurecky, Assistant Cashier. Mrs. Harry Tag and Miss Jerusha Rogers are also employed by the bank.

W. O. Newton was re-elected Active Vice President of the Citizens National Bank; Niley Smith and Frank Monroe, Vice Presidents; Lester Williams, Cashier; Ladis Marek, Assistant Cashier.

Alvin Nolte was re-elected Assistant Cashier though he is in the armed services.

Cameron banks in their current statements show total resources of around ten million dollars.

CITY COUNCIL REJECTS BEER ORDINANCE HERE

The City Council Tuesday night killed an ordinance submitted by the Cameron Ministers Association to place a ban on sale of beer in the city between the hours of midnight Saturday and 7 a. m. Monday.

The ordinance died when a motion to pass it failed of a second. The proposed legislation actually was never before the council for consideration. It was in effect killed on the night of January 14th when it was taken under advisement by a vote of 4 to 1.

Alderman Griffith moved the passage of the ordinance last night but could not get a second and the legislation died. It was practically certain that the ordinance would not be passed.

Members of the Board of Aldermen had received letters requesting favorable action on the ordinance which was presented at an open hearing meeting of the council last Thursday night.

Alderman E. O. Schiller was not present last night but Aldermen McDermott, Horstmann, Terry and Griffith were present.

The City Council has as a whole not expressed itself on the question but obviously the matter has now been killed three times and may be said to be out of question for consideration under present conditions.

Germany Faces Worst Winter

Hunger and Depression Are Growing on Nazi Front And Occupied Lands.

LONDON. — Hunger, war-weariness and depression are growing on the German home front. Germany, and together with it the occupied countries of Europe, face the prospect of a winter grimmer and more terrible than any since 1918. German cities, one by one, are being laid in ruins by the new fearful striking power of the Royal Air force, soon to be greatly augmented by bomber fleets from the United States.

Throughout the conquered countries of Europe, overrun in the past three years by Hitler's armed forces, unrest and even open revolt are spreading among the peoples whom Hitler is seeking to bludgeon into his Nazi "New Order" system. In the West, German garrisons wait uneasily for the Second Front which the armies of Great Britain and the United States may open at any moment.

Hitler's Only Hope.

Hitler and the other Nazi chieftains know their only hope today of avoiding defeat is to crush completely the military power of Russia in the 40 campaigning days still left before his armies are immobilized again in the frozen horror of a Russian winter.

The German Home Front today is enduring hardships—to some extent even privations—comparable only with those of 1917-18. The food situation is deterioriating alarmingly and critical shortages are almost certain this winter. The situation can be summarized as follows:

1. One of the most disastrous harvests in years is expected.
2. Germany is suffering the worst shortage of potatoes and vegetables since 1918.
3. The fruit crop has been almost completely ruined.
4. The shortage of fats throughout Germany and the occupied territories this winter will be more critical than at any time since the outbreak of war.

Worst Since World War I.

Normally food conditions in Germany show a marked improvement during the summer. This summer they have been little better than last winter, which foreign residents in Germany agreed was the grimmest since World War I. Potatoes were rationed for the first time in this war, but in Berlin and many other large German cities they were unobtainable for weeks on end. Vegetables, normally plentiful in summer time, are so scarce this summer that strict rationing had to be put into operation.

In a desperate attempt to prevent a grain shortage, Dr. Herbert Backe, new acting minister for food and agriculture, placed the Nazi party in supreme control of harvesting and ordered the farmers to hand over to it their entire grain crop.

Father Joins His Three Sons in Armed Services

BLOOMINGTON, ILL.—Harold J. Hartley has joined his three sons in the armed services. He served 22 months in the last World war and engaged in four major battles, but that wasn't enough.

His three sons in World War II are Sergt. Joe Herman, at Camp Breckenridge, Ky.; Pvt. John E., air corps, Albuquerque, N. M., and Pvt. Eugene Hartley, "somewhere in the U. S. marines."

Now, Mr. Hartley, the elder, is in service and has gone to Sacramento, Calif.

Famed Red London Buses Will Get Change of Color

LONDON.—London's red buses, known the world around, will change color as a result of war conditions, taking on a brownish appearance, it was revealed.

A shortage in the red dye used in making the paint is responsible for the change. Buses will be gradually painted in the new shade as it becomes necessary to give them a new coat. Roofs, window frames and upper and lower decks will be painted a grayish cream instead of gray.

He Dimmed Arc Light; Air Warden Is Out $75

REDONDO BEACH, CALIF.—Air raid precautions are strict here, but there was some criticism of the strictness of Warden Charles W. Calvert.

The warden was brought into court because he had pulled a revolver and taken five shots at an arc light which he thought should be dimmed. He was fined $75.

1,400 Serbs Shot Down In New Wave of Terror

LONDON.—More than 1,400 Serbs, including women and children, were shot to death in a new wave of terror in the Axis-created Croat state, the exiled Jugoslav government reports. The executions, which Jugoslav sources said were aimed at "exterminating the Serbs," occurred in the province of Srem at the hands of Ustachi—the brown uniformed Fascist police that use Nazi Gestapo tactics.

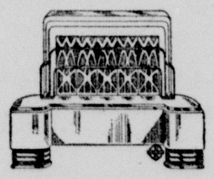
Sweating Walls Unnecessary

Even with unvented heaters

Don't close rooms tight

WHAT YOU NEED is circulating air, to help keep moisture off the walls in cold weather. It's easy; just don't close everything, when you light the gas heaters. Some houses are so well built, the inside air is practically standing still when the doors and windows are closed. (Any fuel-combustion gives off water vapor. When this is added to the natural moisture in the air, it may condense on cold walls and doors, like the moisture on a glass of iced tea. But with ventilation, it evaporates instead of condensing.)

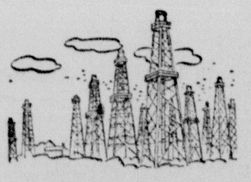


What To Do

If you will open a window a little, to keep the air "alive," the moisture will evaporate. And it doesn't take much to do it, because air likes to travel; if it bogs down, it goes flat.

After the War, Get Vented Heaters

Vented heaters, you know, can take care of this problem; they carry the products of combustion outdoors. But proper ventilation can help to give this same dry-wall service, with radiant heaters and the unvented radiators and circulators.



As far as Lone Star engineers and production men can see, Lone Star System will be able to meet the wartime demands of all residential, commercial, and war customers this winter. But use gas wisely; don't waste it.

In the meantime, are you wasting gas?

Don't do it; there's a war on.

When you waste gas, it's gone forever.

We can't pick it up in a scrap drive.

WASHINGTON

By

CONGRESSMAN POAGE

You must wonder why it takes so long for Congress to "get under way." We have now been in session about two weeks and no legislation has been passed. A large part of the delay that exists each two years at the beginning of a new term of Congress springs from the appointment of the committees. The committees of the old Congress do not hold over as every member of the House is newly elected each two years. The committees necessarily wield great influence because of the large size of the House. The larger the body the more it becomes absolutely essential that the body as a whole shall delegate certain work to smaller groups. In Congress there are the "standing" and in some instances the "special" committees. In a broader sense the House and Senate are in fact but committees of the whole population.

Just as it is impossible for all of the 130,000,000 people to gather together and agree on legislation, so it is impossible for all of the 435 members of the House to hold needed informal discussions with those who are interested in every individual bill that comes before the Congress. Nor is it possible for the entire membership to give special study to each of the subjects of legislation. In addition to this, we all realize that the smaller the number of individuals who must agree (particularly on the wording of any kind of document or bill,) the sooner agreement will be reached.. This is the reason that committees are so much more important in Congress than in the State Legislature. There are approximately three times as many members of Congress as there are of our Texas Legislature. This is also the reason that committees are relatively more important in the House than in the Senate.—There are 4 1-2 time as many members of the House as there are of the Senate.

In the House the Democratic members of the various other committees are selected by the Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee. The members of the Ways and Means Committee are selected by vote of the House itself. Of course, as long as the Democrats have a majority in the House, we could theoretically elect all the members of the Ways and Means Committee and could place only Democrats on committees. It has, however, long been recognized that the two party system of government which we have always had in the United States requires that the minority party be recognized. Therefore, it is the practice for the party leaders (who in turn are selected by vote of their respective party members) to meet and agree on the proportion of representation on the committees. These agreements are referred back to the caususes of the respective parties for ratification. It is generally agreed that the majority party should have a substantial majority on such committees as Ways and Means and the Rules Committee, but that on most other committees the proportion should more closely follow the proportion that obtains in the House itself. Since the Democratic majority is quite small at this session, it has been agreed that no more committees the Republicans will get several additional places. For instance, the division on the Agricultural Committee will now be 14 Democrats to 11 Republicans, and some committees will be 13 to 12 although the membership on the Ways and Means Committee remains 15 Democrats to 10 Republicans.

For approximately a week the Ways and Means Committee members have been working to properly assign each member to the proper committee or committees. Of course the Democrats and Republicans meet separately to select their own representatives on each committee. In other words, the Democrats have nothing to do with and no control over who the Republicans put on a committee and vice versa. Until all of the committees are organized and every member placed, no announcement will be made by the Ways and Means Committee. Then the Democrats will report to the Democratic Caucus, and the Republicans to the Republican Caucus. Only after the caucuses of the respective parties have approved the selections will the action be submitted to the House for final action. This action will unquestionably be taken before this letter reaches you. All the committees will then go to work. In the meantime, the old members who were members of certain committees like the Appropriations Committee, etc., in the last Congress, have already been authorized to meet and act as regular committees pending the complete organization of committees, so that this time is not lost as it may seen. As a matter of fact, every member seems to have all he can do trying to contact the agencies and bureaus that are controlling so many of the details of every-day-life. In most instances, members of Congress cant do more with the so-called war "agencies" than they can with the War "Department," but most of us want to help and are glad to try.

With best wishes.

25 BRITISH BOMBERS LOST SUNDAY NIGHT

Berlin was raided for the second night in succession Sunday with heavy damage.

The first raid on the capital in almost a year occured Saturday night. British bombers were back over the capital of the Reich again Sunday night.

In the raid on Saturday night the British were able to get at the capital without opposition due to the surprise element. On Sunday night as the British bombers went to Berlin they were met with better defense preparations and 24 of the craft were shot down. This loss may indicate that several hundred bombers were in the invading flight. On Saturday night one bomber was lost.

In London Monday the results of the raid were described as collosal. When the bombers returned Sunday night fires were still burning in the city from the previous raid.

Berlin admited Monday that the raid damage was heavy and that considerable loss of life resulted.

In London a commentator who went with the British on the raid told of the attack. Bombs weighing 8000 pounds were used. They are called block busters.

Germany retaliated with a raid on England. Sunday night a few of the German planes got through but the raid Monday night was said to have been ineffective.

In North Africa the 8th British army has advanced about 40 miles.

In Russia the Red army is advancing rapidly in the direction of Kharkov in a new drive that has developed as a result of the successes on other portions of the front.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Westbrook have received a letter from his brother, John D. Westbrook who is now in New Guiena with the American expeditionary forces. They are also in receipt of a letter from Joe Haddox who is somewhere in foreign service with the army. Mr. and Mrs. Westbrook send copies of the Daily Herald to these boys and they greatly enjoy reading about Cameron and their old friends here.

Ministers Say City Did Not Decline to Pass Beer Regulation

The City Council Delayed, Not Declined, Action on Beer Ordinance. All Ministers and About Two Hunderd Citizens Presented Request for Passage.

In fairness to the City Council, it should be explained that it was not intended to convey the thought that the Council rejected the Ordinance as requested at the open hearing last Thursday night. Really what the Council did was to delay action.

It should be kept in mind that all resident ministers of Cameron signed the original request sent to the City Council, and that all resident ministers attended the entire meeting Thursday night except one who was present at the opening and at the close but attended the USO committee meeting in the meantime; as previously arranged by the Ministers Association. Rev. John Solomon presided for those presenting the ordinance for adoption Thursday night and three other ministers and four other citizens spoke. The entire gathering, except a few of the other side, of about two hundred representative citizens voted in the presence of the City Council requesting the adoption of the full ordinance as presented.

The Ministers Association has adopted no definite policy in regard to the activities of the USO but has under consultation with the USO a plan of agreement and co-operation. Any ennouncement concerning this was previous ad without the official endorsement of the Ministers Association. (This article is printed at the request of the Rev. B. L. Pool, president of the Cameron Ministers Association.)

HOOKS-LEE

An early twilight marriage of much interest to many friends in Cameron was that of Raleigh F. Hooks to Mrs. Delsie Virginia Lee of Houston, Monday, January 18th at 6:30 p. m. at the home of Judge and Mrs. Jeff T. Kemp with the Judge reading the ring ceremony.

The bridegroom is a native of Cameron, the son of Mrs. Ella Dobbins, of Waco, a nephew of Mrs. Kemp, and lived in Cameron until early manhood when he went to Houston where he has been continuously employed in railroad service.

The happy couple motored to Cameron that they might be married by Judge Kemp, and were house guests of Judge and Mrs. Kemp.

Following the marriage a supper was enjoyed at the Kemp home with those friends for the ceremony as guests, which was composed of relatives and close friends of the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Hooks will make their home in Houston. They returned by way of Waco where they visited for a short time other relatives.

INTERPRETATION OF TIRE REPAIR RULES CORRECTED

Correcting an error resulting from mis-interpretation of tire repairs and the use of tires needing repairs, was contained Saturday in a letter from the Gates Rubber Company and released here by the Mitchan Auto Supply.

The Office of Price Administration has not set up any specifications for repair work rendered as a service and perfomed on casings belonging to the purchaser. Accordingly, cold patches are not illegal in such a situation. Revised Price Scheudle No. 66, as Amended, does not set up minimum quality specifications for repairs to carcasses in the process of retreading or recapping. Maximum Price Regulation No. 107 establishes minimum quality specifications for repairs that must be made to used tires before a seller may sell such tires at the maximum prices applicable to sound or repaired tires. In both cases, these minimum quality specifications require that repairs to tires be vulcanized repairs. Let us repeat that the specifications do not apply to repair work being performed on a customer's tire.

There also seemed to be a feeling that sectional mold equipment must be used in the cases where this Office has required vulcanized repairs to casings for retreading and to used tires being sold as repaired tires. All that our minimum qaulity specifications require in this regard is that a repair to a tire must be a vulcanized repair and that curing must be in accordance with instructions of the manufacturer of the repair materials used. Our regulations do not require that curing must always be done in a sectional mold and there is no reason why any other type of vulcanizer might not meet the requirements.

Your group made the further point that the amounts set forth in Maximum Price Regulation No. 107 as the necessary deductions for basic tire carcasses in need fo repair are being interpreted by many people as being the maximum prices applicable to that type of repair. Maximum prices for repairs to tires are established generally at the March, 1942, level by Maximum Price Regulation No. 163, as Amended. Maximum Price Regulation No. 107 does not set forth any maximum prices for the performance of repair work to tires. The amounts set forth in Maximum Price Regulation No. 107 are only the deductions that must be made from the maximum price of a sound tire in determining the maximum price of a basis tire carcass in need of repair.

WOMEN AT WAR

Mom

"Sausages for breakfast! Sausages for breakfast! I can smell 'em!" Small Joe came tumbling downstairs fastening the belt of his shorts as he came. He made a beeline for the kitchen. Pop was already sitting at the table, reading the paper, while Mom held the handle of the frying-pan over the stove. Small Joe came close and sniffed the delicious smoke, wriggling all over with early-morning joy.

"Better be thankful for them while you can still get them." One glance at Mom's face told small Joe this was one of her tight-lipped days. "Not a drop of coffee in the house, and no sugar left to put in it if there was. Some war!" Small Joe kept still.

"Letter for you, son," Pop said in his quiet voice. Small Joe made a leap for his place at table. There it was, a private personal letter for him alone, propped against his milk glass.

"Hey, Pop! It's from brother!" Small Joe was pulling the envelope apart and diving into the contents. "Hey, look what he sent me." He passed over an oblong of thick, crinkly paper while he leaned over the sheet of writing-paper.

"A twenty-five dollar War Bond," Pop said slowly. Mom turned and looked at it over Pop's shoulder, with the frying-pan in her hand.

"Listen what he says. 'How are you doing, kid? Hurry and grow up so you can help me slap the Japs. Aren't you most big enough to get into the Army? Here's something for you in your name. Let's the whole family gang up and help to win this war.'"

Pop and Mom were silent. But small Joe didn't notice that. He was full of his letter and his War Bond.

"Gee, Pop, in six years I could get into the Army, couldn't I, Pop? Gee, Pop, I want to be a soldier like brother and fight in this war. Gee, isn't that bond nifty? Look, it was issued in Honolulu. It's mine."

But Pop was looking at Mom and Mom was looking at Pop. There were tears in Mom's eyes. She shook her head sharply. Pop reached out and patted her hand gently.

"Well, can't let our soldier boy beat us to buying War Bonds, can we, old lady?" was all he said.

She shook her head again. "I guess if he can give up his job and . . . and go off to war I can do some fighting back at home," she said in a queer voice. Small Joe looked up at her in surprise. She saw him looking at her and spoke sharply. "Well, Joe. We're about ready to eat. Say grace."

"Oh Lord, we thank thee for this food and all thy bountiful gifts . . ."

"Amen," Pop said.

"Amen," Mom said. "Now eat your good sausages."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Truth" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 24.

The Golden Text is: "Teach me thy way, O Lord; I will walk in thy truth: unite my heart to fear thy name" (Pslams 86:11.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Lord, who shall abide in thy tabernacle? who shall dwell in thy holy hill? He that walketh uprightly, and worketh righteousness, and speaketh the truth in his heart" (Psalms 16:1, 2.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Divine Mind rightly demands man's entire obedience, affection, and strength. No reservation is made for any lesser loyalty. Obedience to Truth gives man power and strength." (Page 183.)

Lights of New York

by L. L. STEVENSON

Vacation: Fell into conversation with a group of members of the RAF, the oldest of which gave his age as 23 years. To my surprise, I learned that those alert, fine-looking, keen-eyed lads were all veterans of Dunkerque. They refused to discuss that historic retreat, however, dismissing the whole affair with the more or less casual comment that it was "quite a show." They did have much praise for Yank fliers who had accompanied them on some errands over the continent which, while they did not say so directly, undoubtedly did not add to the peace of mind of the outlaw Hitler. A question as to why they happened to be in this country at this time brought the response that they were enjoying a rest from battling in the clouds. It seems that all they have to do at present is ferry giant bombers across the Atlantic.

• • •

Literary Note: Asked how the pilot of a bomber occupied his time in the hours spent in flying over the ocean, the 23-year-old wing-wearer replied, "We read." Thinking I was being had, I declared that with the responsibility of thousands of dollars' worth of property, to say nothing of the lives of his fellow crew members, as well as the necessity of watching a panel board full of instruments, a pilot surely wouldn't stick his nose into a book. But the lad was serious enough. He was sensible of his responsibility at all times, and although there are more than a hundred instruments on the board, after the automatic pilot has been set about all the human pilot has to do is give the needles a glance now and then and listen to the purr of the motors, which have a language of their own. So to speed the minutes, the pilot reads. The preference is for mystery-thrillers.

• • •

Helpful: A young woman who desires no publicity but agrees that it might be a good thing to pass her idea along, spends much of her free time gathering old or unused lighters. She gets many because most of her friends have at least one lighter that is out of service, and others have lighters, usually received as gifts or bought in moments of weakness, that are merely resting in drawers. All she collects are taken to a co-operating watchmaker who, in his free time, makes necessary repairs, which in many cases consist of merely putting in a new flint. All the lighters are not only made workable but are cleaned and polished until they look like new. Then they are sent to men in the service who, it seems, while they can't always obtain matches, can always find lighter fuel. Incidentally, she includes a package of flints with each lighter.

Pastime: Nadine Conner, Metropolitan opera star, has a new pastime that is proving popular. It is called "Derivations." A word is given to each member of a group and 15 minutes are allowed to find the meaning of the word, without the help of a dictionary, and put its origin into a story. For instance, "news," which means intelligence of recent events. A small printer, thinking of a title for a new paper, noticed a weathercock on a nearby building. Under the rooster were the letters standing for the points of the compass, N.E.W.S. As the paper was to contain tidings from all over the world, the printer had a title and the language a new word.

Goner: Band leader-pianist Ted Straeter tells of the carrier pigeon, that, freighted with a message from London to Russia, became so tired while flying over Germany that it had to descend for a rest. No sooner had it lit than it was captured. Taken before the Gestapo, a Nazi read the important message, then fixing the bird with a cold look, demanded, "Well, what have you got to say for yourself?"

"Nothing," sighed the pigeon, "except that I guess I'm a dead duck."

Stuck in His Thumb And Got Half Dollar

MARISSA, ILL.—Ralph Dykes took a bite of his ice cream cone; then paused to feast his eyes as well as his palate.

He saw a frozen lump, stuck in a thumb a la Jack Horner, and pulled out a half dollar.

With a gambler's instinct, he spent the money for more cones, but was disappointed to find they contained only ice cream.

SHOWER FOR BRIDE

Mrs. Henry Dreyer and Mrs. Mott Terry were co-hostesses for a lovely shower complimenting Mrs. Bill De Berando, the former Miss Kathryn Terry on Sunday afternoon from 3 until 5 at the home of Mrs. Henry Dreyer. The home was beautifully decorated with seasonal flowers.

As each guest entered, they were registered in the bride's book which was a gift from Mrs. Terry. A red, white and blue hairbow was also given each guest as a favor.

The games were led by Mrs. W. E. Kuehl and Mrs. Mott Terry received a prize for writing the best telegram to the groom. Each guest wrote a wish for the bride and Mrs. S. J. Henry read, "Three Wishes for the Bride."

Henry Dreyer, veteran of world war 1, played a march with his bugle, "You're In the Army Now," to the tune of which came in a toy jeep, loaded with gifts and driven by Randy Williams, in army uniform and little Jimmy Clore acting as body guard, also in uniform. The jeep stopped in front of the bride. The little boys stood at attention and saluted the bride, who opened the many lovely gifts and expressed her appreciation for the gifts in her own charming way.

A fruit plate and hot tea was served by the hostesses.

Mrs. De Berando is staying here with her parents. Her husband has been transferred from Camp Bowie but it is not known where he is located. She expects to join him soon if he stops in the states.

Lt. Wells Guards Secret of Hornet Sinking In Pacific

For one thing, the the only uniform he had was stained with fuel oil and his shoes were obviously borrowed ones.

The navy's disclosure of the sinking of the aircraft carrier Hornet confirmed the thing Lt. Wells didn't talk about while he was here during December—the loss of a great ship that took its mortal blows from suicidal Jap dive bombers in action Oct. 25th.

Lt. Wells, an Annapolis graduate of 1940, was a gunnery officer on the Hornet.

During his visit there were inevitable rumors that his ship had been sunk. His reply to the frankly curious was always the same. "The last time I saw the Hornet," he would say, "she was in the Southwest Pacific — afloat."

He was right.

As the story has now been revealed, the Hornet-shining symbol of American naval strength in the Coral Sea, at Midway, Rabaul, Guadalcanal, Bougainville and the Stewart Islands —was attacked by 38 enemy dive bombers and cruisers. Her own aircraft, called Stingers by the Hornet's men, were off on a mission of their own. Another Texan, James C. Sandridge, ship fitter first class, declared in an interview released under censorship this week: "Our gunners were really on the ball . . .Those gunners were throwing everything but the anchors at 'em . . . It was hell. Japs were falling out of the skies like flies."

A delayed action bomb and two torpedo hits damaged the carrier though the first attack was beaten off, and the Hornet was put under tow.

She was attacked again, about dusk, and had to be cut loose from the tow vessel. The heavy list caused the order to abandon ship. The navy announced that U. S. guns supplied the Hornet's coups re grace when it was determined she was damaged beyond salvage.

Lt. Wells' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Wells, have learned his division was among the last to leave the Hornet, and he was in the water about an hour before he was picked up. No one was lost in the water though the enemy action was still under way.

"The navy's announcement came as a relief, in a way," Mrs. Wells said. "It was hard for Tom, being under orders, of course, not to discuss it, to avoid the questions and rumors all the time he was here. Naturally, we feel so very fortunate, so very thankful that he came through safely."

Lt. Wells' paid this kind of tribute to the Hornet's crew: "Every man of them was a hero."

He walked into his parents' house Nov. 23, without letting them know he was coming and remained over Christmas. The holiday brought a reunion of all the Wells boys: Peter, 27, a first lieutenant and infantry instructor at Fort Benning, Ga.; Tom, 25, and John, 22, an ensign in the naval reserve, who finished his work at Harvard the last of January. Tom graduated from Austin high and attended the University of Texas a year before his appointment to the naval academy by Sen. Tom Connally, and was assigned to the Hornet a month before she was commissioned.

Laborers Needed at Gatesville for Army Camp Construction

Construction laborers, white or colored, are needed for work on the reception center army camp job at Gatesville, Pat S. Tillman, district supervisor of the United States employment service, announces.

The job is now under way and will be in progress for several months, with prevailing wage scales. Men who are able to do construction labor are urged to report at once to the U. S. employment office in the city hall at Gatesville.

Coldest Weather Since 1940 Recorded Here Early Tuesday

Lowest temperatures since 1940 were recorded here early Tuesday morning when the thermometer registered a low of 9 degrees above zero.

On January 26, 1940, the temperature was 6 degrees above zero.

The coldest weather on record here was the severe freeze of 1929 when the themometer registered 10 degrees below zero.

Richard Hester of the Community Public Service Company, official weather observer for the government, reported the 9 degree temperature early Tuesday.

Mr. Hester said that the temperature was 40 degrees above at 7 p. m. Monday. At 10 p. m. 22 degrees was registered and at 6 a. m. 9 degrees above zero.

Indications were lower temperatures, perhaps zero weather, might be recorded Wednesday night. At 2 p. m. the themometer at the Herald registered 22 degrees. At 6 a. m. the reading was 10 degrees.

India's Agitators Go Underground

NEW DELHI, INDIA.—The character of the internal disturbances in India has changed from mass riots and demonstrations to individual acts of sabotage which are harder to deal with and in some ways more dangerous, the New York Times quotes a government official of India. This official deals directly with questions of internal security.

What has happened, according to him, is that the movement has been driven underground to a certain extent, and whereas mass activity can be easily handled by the traditional methods of firing and lathee charges, individuals working secretly at night are much more difficult to apprehend.

So far there has not been much of this sort of work, but signs are pointing that way, said the official, adding that there have been cases of rails cut by blow torches or acid during the night by small groups. He is convinced that it is organized sabotage and that all that has occurred since August 9 was at least expected, if not organized, by the Congress party.

Loyalty of Police Cited.

"We did know exactly what was going to happen," he said, "but Gandhi and Congress party men must have known what was coming. We expected the same old Congress stuff and that is what we got for three days, but then organized sabotage began."

The official stated that a great deal depended on local Indian constables remaining loyal, which they did. He was asked how the Indian government could count on men whose basic pay is only 18 rupees monthly and who were recruited in home localities and hence were called upon to shoot or arrest their own people.

"Every government has to rely on its servants," the official replied. "The constables remained loyal to their salt. Out of about 230,000 police, less than a thousand are British and of them only 400 are officers. Of course, we had the army behind the police and the army is used more in India for internal security than in other countries.

"Those constables who took a firm line with the mobs were all right, some of those who did not were overwhelmed and killed. I believe India needs a firm government and most Indians agree with me. When they institute their own government it will have to be a firm one."

May Calm Down.

In reply to a question about the possibility of military developments, the official said that if we attack and things go well in Burma and other parts of the world, then India will calm down. He did not think a wholly Indian government would mean an increased or more effective war effort.

Another possibility of trouble, he added, was if Mohandas K. Gandhi died. At present, Mr. Gandhi is well and seems to be acting like a spectator of the Indian scene, according to the official. He is allowed to write to his relatives on personal matters so if he fasted and died they would know quickly.

The official said he was not alarmed by disturbances on the northwest frontier where Abdul Gaffer Khan has been arousing his "Red Shirts" to acts of civil disobedience. Governor Sir George Cunningham has been taking the line that the Congress party hasn't a big following on the northwest frontier, which is true, said the official, but it might be necessary to take measures against the "Red Shirts."

MANKATO, MINN. — The Mankato Free Press tells this one on itself—

A fire siren screamed and a Free Press reporter being his usual wide awake self grabbed a telephone in the editorial offices on the second floor.

"On the second floor of the Free Press," replied the dispatcher.

The fire was in the linotype room. Only the reporter's feelings were damaged.

CHILDREN ARE MACHINE GUNNED IN STREETS

German dive bombers were over Londan last night and late Tuesday to give the city the worst pasting since September 1940.

School children and civilians were machine gunned in the streets.

Eleven of the bombers were shot down. There was no immediate estimate of the damage done nor the casulties suffered in the British capital.

No doubt the Germans are retaliating for the raid on Berlin. The raid on London was not regarded as a large one though eleven of the invading craft were shot down.

Employers Who Need Rubber Shoes Must Prove War Necessity

Cameron, January 18, 1943—Employers who need rubber boots or rubber work shoes for the use of employees doing work essential to the war effort, public health or safety during disaster are eligible for rationing certificates to permit the purchase of such footwear, Sam, Perry Chairman of the Milam County War Price and Rationing Board, reported today.

"Employers faced with such an emergency may now apply to the Local War Price and Rationing Board," Mr. Perry explained. "The Board will report the matter immediately to the state OPA Director and obtain his permission to issue a certificate for the needed number of pairs of rubber footwear. The employer must retain title to the foot wear, however."

This new procedure is permitted by an amendment to the rationing regulation governing rubber boots and rubber work shoes, Mr. Perry said. Previously, no employer could obtain men's rubber boots or rubber work shoes to furnish to his employees unless he had done so in the past.

Natives of South Africa Join Allies

Hereros of Former German Colony Seek Revenge.

LONDON.—Deep hatred of their former German masters has never ceased to rankle in the hearts of some native tribes of Southwest Africa since the German-Herero war there in the 1880s when the commandant of the colony, General von Trothe, furious at the tribe's fierce resistance, ordered his soldiers to exterminate every Herero — man, woman and child.

A call by the government of the Union of South Africa for recruits for the Native Military corps has caused them to flock eagerly to the colors.

The Hereros, descendants of the remnants of that tribe who escaped extermination, are training with grim determination, according to the Johannesburg Sunday Times. Ovambos, whose contact with the Germans was less, but who nevertheless know by repute the character of the previous rulers of Southwest Africa, are coming forward in large numbers to help in the struggle. Damaras, too, Hottentots and even a few Bushmen are joining up.

From the mountains of Basutoland, the sandy wastes of Bechuanaland and the wild mountains of Swaziland, which compose the British High Commission territories, natives in large numbers have joined the Armed Auxiliary Pioneer corps set up in these British High Commission territories a year ago. The population of these territories numbers 1,000,000, in round figures. Between 70,000 and 100,000 natives are regularly employed in Union of South Africa industries, mainly in the gold mines. Yet 20,000 of them have been doing fine service in the Middle East and 15,000 more will soon follow them.

Rights of French Women Increased by Government

VICHY.—The detention of many heads of French families as war prisoners in Germany is having the effect of increasing the legal rights and responsibilities of women.

A law being drafted by the Petain government will give women the status of heads of households if their husbands are absent. Within certain limitations, they will be able to administer and dispose of their own property, and that of their households, without the approval of husbands.

Only men vote, but with so many men absent, the practical effect is that very few have the right of suffrage. Under existing statutes, women may not be elected to offices, but the Petain government has been appointing women to municipal councils. In the absence of mayors, women may perform civil marriage ceremonies.

Navy Discloses Bases In Fijis and Hebrides

WASHINGTON.—The existence of American bases in the New Hebrides and the Fiji Islands became officially known tonight with mention of these island groups in a navy communique on the sinking of the cruisers Quincy, Vincennes and Astoria near Guadalcanal island on August 9.

No information about the size or type of these bases was vouchsafed, but the communique named them as among the points threatened by the enemy if development of Japanese bases in the Solomons was not checked.

Too Many Dogs Around; Fears to Enter Home

STEUBENVILLE, OHIO.—Sheriff Robert D. Bales received a frantic telephone call. It sounded something like the old lady who lived in a shoe, but it did not concern "so many children . . ."

It was Fred Wonnacott, from nearby Adena, who complained that there were so many unlicensed dogs around his home that he was afraid to enter the domicile. They had menacing attitudes, too.

Two dog wardens were dispatched to the scene and it was soon possible for Wonnacott to enter his house safely.

Californian Has Bird to Prove Bird of a Shiner

WEISER, IDAHO.—A. D. Rodabaugh of San Francisco has a new story about how he got that shiner. And he has the eagle to prove it.

Rodabaugh and his wife were driving through Winnemucca, Nev., when the large, golden bird attacked the automobile and crashed through the windshield—into Rodabaugh's face. The Rodabaughs brought the bird along.

BRITISH EIGHTH ARMY IN 50 MILES TRIPOLI

The siege of Leningrad has been lifted.

The Russian armies have blasted a hole 8 miles wide in the German ring which for 17 months held the city of Peter The Great under its guns.

In breaking the siege of Leningrad the Germans suffered 15,000 killed. The Reds have thus opened up the rail lines to Smolensk and made possible an invasion of Finland. The great Arctic port of Murmansk has been released for uninterruped flow of supplies.

Leningrad in the days of the Czars was St. Petersburg. It is an old city and before its siege by the Germans had a population in excess of three millions.

Mocow became the Soviet Capital with the birth and power of Bolshevism.

Substantially half the people in Leningrad died of starvation and disease during the siege. The defense of Leningrad will live forvever as an epic of heroic defense and sacrifice of her people.

Meanwhile the Red armies were pushing on to Rostov. They are within 50 miles of that city. Another Russian drive has taken the Red army to within 150 miles of Kharkov the capital of the Ukraine.

The spearhead of the Russian drive from the deep Caucasus is pointed at Maikop and the Black sea.

Berlin, one of the most beautiful cities in the world, was in partial ruins from the devastation of British bombers. Some 500 planes took part in the Sunday night attack, second within two days.

In North Africa the British 8th army was within 50 miles of Tripoli and bombers are blasting the city of Tripoli.

Important new gains were made in the Solomons by the United Nations. American army troops have entered the war in the South Pacific.

Submarines of the United States fleet have sunk 5 more enemy ships in the South Pacific.

Date Extended for Tire Inspection on Commercial Cars

Deadline for the first tire inspection of commercial motor vehicles was postponed today until February 28. Official notice of the extention of time from the original January 15 deadline was received at the Waco district office for the Office of Defense Transportation.

Operators were urged by ODT officials to have their tires inspected as soon as is practically possible, in spite of the extension of time. After the first inspection, the vehicle must be presented for regular inspections every 60 days or every 5,000 miles, whichever occurs first.

OPA tire inspectors must put their approval of the tires on the back of the Certificate of War Necessity in the space indicated for this purpose. After February 28, Certificates which do not carry this valid endorsement may not be used to obtain gasoline ration coupons from local war price and rationing boards. No commercial vehicle may be operated following a tire inspection unless the inspector has certified that all reasonable and possible adjustments, repairs or replacements necessary to assure maximum tire conservation have been made.

STEVENSON TAKES OATH AS GOVERNOR

Governor Coke R. Stevenson was inaugurated Texas' governor at noon Tuesday with simple ceremonies in the House of Representatives at Austin.

Governor Stevenson in his inaugural address declared for the preservation of democratic institutions. The voice of the citizens of Texas counties cannot well be heard if his court house is moved to a bureaucratic desk in Washington.

Mrs. Charles Knipp and little daughter, Carolyn, spent several days in Waco, returning home Sunday.
